

LISTEN TO THE POOR • STOP THE SWEEPS SPEAK OUT ON JANUARY 28

the city has a new policy:
survival is a crime

The Mayor's office plans to soon extend Seattle's parks exclusion ordinance to all public land throughout the City. THIS IS THE CRIMINALIZATION OF BASIC HUMAN SURVIVAL. The 2007 One Night Count clearly documents that at least 1,600 people struggle to survive outside of Seattle's over-extended emergency shelter system.

SPEAK OUT AND TELL
SEATTLE LEADERS THAT PEOPLE HAVE a RIGHT TO SURVIVE

JOIN REAL CHANGE FOR A PUBLIC SPEAK OUT BEFORE THE CITY'S MEETING ON THIS PROPOSAL AND SIGN UP TO TESTIFY DURING THE PUBLIC COMMENT PERIOD. WE'LL PROVIDE SNACKS AND A MICROPHONE TO MAKE YOUR VOICE HEARD. YOU'RE INVITED TO SHARE YOUR PERSONAL STORY OF SURVIVING OUTSIDE OR YOUR COMMITMENT TO PREVENTING THE CRIMINALIZATION OF HOMELESSNESS.

5 PM Monday January 28, 2008. Outside the entrance to the Seattle Center's Rainier Room (part of the Northwest Rooms, near 1st and Republican.
